

Special Proposal for you

I definitely could use your support during this new journey.

I am looking for investors who honestly believe in my talent and know how much this business keeps me grounded. If you invest atleast $100 which would help me with building my inventory, you will receive your money back plus 10% of all sales made for 1 year (deposited monthly to you).

I really do appreciate everyone that has been pouring encouragement into my life and I would love to really make this a stable and reliable income. I just need alittle help and push at the moment. I have constant inquiries but I kept inventory low because I was honestly scared to take that first step. I have so many more ideas and want to bring them to life. Now that I am seeing this response for the public, I would love to start planning pop-up shops.

Please let me know your thoughts. I appreciate your time.